

3 HURT IN CRASH OF CONEY ISLAND AIR TRAINS

Score Badly Shaken as Cars Meet on Tracks of 'Big Dipper.'

MANY LEAP TO EARTH
Hysterical Women Are Restrained by Efforts of Train Crews.

STALLED CAR IS CAUSE

Surf Avenue Throgs Witness Accident Twenty-five Feet in the Air.

Three persons were hurt, two of them so seriously they were sent to a hospital, and more than twenty others were severely shaken up late yesterday afternoon when a car on the Big Dipper, one of the scenic rides on Surf avenue, Coney Island, crashed into a stalled car in a dip twenty-five feet from the ground. The crash occurred shortly before 6 o'clock, at a time when Surf avenue was crowded with pleasure seekers, and although the accident was out of view of the crowds, word of it spread and such a throng gathered the police found it difficult to handle the people.

Both of the trains were filled with passengers, who were thrown into a panic when the collision occurred. Several of them jumped from the cars and started to leap from the railing of the dip twenty-five feet to the ground, but were restrained by train crews. One or two young men did jump but were not injured. Several of the women in the two trains became hysterical, and their screams were heard for more than a block along Surf avenue.

The first car, driven by Constantine Stenholm, had almost finished the scenic route covered by the ride when it stalled and refused to take the final descent, which would have brought it to the starting place. When he saw that Stenholm was unable to start the car, Edward Martin, assistant superintendent of the concession, ran up the incline and began to work with the starting apparatus on the front of the first car of the two cars. Martin, while the passengers became nervous and began shouting to the operator and to Martin to hurry before another car came around the bend and crashed into them.

The rumble of the second car was heard some time before it appeared and the sound caused a panic among the passengers in Stenholm's car. Women screamed and men stood up in their seats and yelled at the operator to stop, but he did not have time after plunging around the bend. The next instant the crash came. Martin was hurled to one side of the tracks, but was prevented from going over the structure by cross pieces.

The impact of the two cars started the first car, and both slid swiftly down the incline to the starting point. There several policemen and a truck attendant hurried to the aid of the passengers and lifted the injured from the cars, while others hurried up the incline and carried the bodies down. A physician was summoned, and he found Martin had a broken nose and a broken collarbone. The other injured were Mrs. May North, 55 Dupont street, Brooklyn, cut on the head by a broken handle; Miss Maud Loeckel of Westport, Pa., broken nose and cuts about the face; and Merrill Koons of Westport, Pa., cut about the face and neck. Martin and Miss Loeckel were taken to the hospital but the others left after they had been treated by a physician.

The belief in the order is that the next grand exalted ruler will be William W. Mountain of Flint, Mich. He is now living in Toledo. Fred C. Robinson and P. J. Brennan will succeed themselves as grand secretary and grand treasurer.

HAS WIFE ARRESTED FOR HAVING BRANDY
Husband's 'Lesson' Turns Out Grand Jury Affair.

Harry Clark, a laundryman, of 25 East Fifty-fourth street, was seized yesterday in West Side Court when he discovered that, having had his wife, Mrs. Adie Clark, arrested for possession of a bottle of cognac, he had the hope it would "teach her a lesson." She could not be fined by the Magistrate but would have to be held for the Grand Jury. When her bail was fixed by Magistrate Silberman at $500 he gave it.

Mrs. Clark was arrested Saturday night at Sixth avenue and Forty-eighth street by Patrolman Peterman of the Traffic Squad. At her request, Clark explained she would not tell him where she had purchased the liquor.

In court Mrs. Clark waived examination, so what she said to her husband when she got him home Saturday night did not come out.

STATUS OF LITERATURE SOUGHT
Columbia Conferences Will Seek to Dispel Uncertainty.

According to the press agent of Columbia University, the status of literature in the United States is so uncertain that Columbia intends this summer to work out a solution of the problem. "What is the position of literature in the United States?" is the question which the university will seek to resolve in a series of special conferences conducted by American educators, journalists and authors. The conferences will fall into three series—American literature, the relation of scholarship to English literature and language. Persons asked take part in the discussions are among the most brilliant thinkers in this country. The first series of conferences will begin on July 11.

GOSSIPING MOTHERS BLAMED IN BRONX BABY CRIME WAVE

Women Spend Too Much Time in Streets and Youngsters Run Riot, Says Magistrate Levine, Suggesting Cat o' Nine Tails Revival.

"During the last fortnight my attention has been called to what appears to be a genuine baby crime wave in the Bronx," commented Magistrate Max Levine in Morrisania Court yesterday when one of three boys accused of snatching a woman's handbag came before him. "It seems to me it is time for a revival of the cat o' nine tails and strenuous sessions in the woodshed."

"I think the mothers are most to blame. The fathers are busy making a living while the mothers are gossiping around the streets. Some sort of censorship should be established over the habits of these youngsters."

The Magistrate spoke also of the activities of the so-called "Black Cross gang" of juveniles, who have been way-laying grocery-bound youngsters and robbing them of money. The particular case before him was that of Sidney Selgel, 16, of 764 East 152d street, arrested with two younger boys, who were sent to the Children's Society, for stealing a pocketbook containing $31 from Mrs. Amelia Bloch of 783 Beck street, The Bronx. They were found by detectives dividing their loot in a vacant lot.

SLAIN DURING ORGY ON CLUB HOUSEBOAT

Policeman's Son Killed in Noah's Ark on Jersey City Waterfront.

The members of the Noah's Ark Club went two by two shortly after midnight yesterday morning into their boathouse, called the Ark, at the foot of Seaview avenue, Jersey City, and about an hour later they began shouting at each other. Before the police could get into the boat-house and stop the fighting one man was dead and several others had been rowing escaped being struck by the many shots that were fired. The police arrested two men and took sixteen others to police headquarters in Jersey City as witnesses.

Capt. Daniel Casey, making the rounds of the district with several detectives about an hour after the season of the Noah's Ark Club had begun, heard shots coming from the boathouse. They ran into the structure and found about twenty men there, many of them with revolvers in their hands. John England, a son of Patrolman Joseph England of the Jersey City Police Department, was lying on the floor dead, and according to the police John A. O'Grady of 236 Sixth street, Jersey City, fired the shot that killed him. Capt. Casey arrested O'Grady and Timothy Sheehan of 322 Ege avenue, Jersey City, and then rounded up the sixteen witnesses and took them all to police headquarters. O'Grady is charged with murder, but refused to make a statement to the police except to say that he had not fired the shot that killed England. Sheehan, the owner of the boathouse, was charged with violating the State dry laws, as some of the men present, according to the police, were drunk. He was arraigned before Judge Richard Doherty and released in $2,500 bail.

During the afternoon Chief Batteries of the Jersey City Police Department issued an order suspending Patrolmen John J. McDermott and John J. Murphy of the Communipaw avenue station. They are accused of being in the Ark during the trouble and with having failed to prevent the fight.

The Eighth Assembly district lost more men during the war in proportion to its size than any other Assembly district in the State.

TULSA RIOTS BLAMED ON KU KLUX KLAN PLOT

W. A. Domingo Says Documents Prove His Allegations.

W. A. Domingo of the editorial staff of the Emancipator, a newspaper published for negroes, was the chief speaker at a meeting of the African Blood Brotherhood held yesterday afternoon in St. Mark's Hall, 57 West 138th street. During his speech Mr. Domingo declared the charges of the Ku Klux Klan and the negro organization during the riot were false. He said the riot was the result of a Ku Klux Klan plot and that the documents seized by the negro organization during the riot prove this allegation.

Claiming that the negro was oppressed, Mr. Domingo declared that the negro fought back his oppressors with the same weapons as used in the attack, whether it be the press or firearms. He declared the negro had gained nothing from sacrifice in the war. Mrs. L. Williams, a refugee from Tulsa, told of conditions in that city since the race riots.

NURSE'S SKULL FRACTURED.

Mrs. S. M. Wallington, 55, a graduate nurse of 38 Danforth avenue, Jersey City, fell down a flight of stairs at the Hotel McAlpin yesterday, following it, is believed an attack of vertigo, and was taken to Bellevue Hospital. Her skull is fractured. Relatives in Jersey City said she was not feeling well when she left home yesterday.

U. S. SUBPENSAS 12 IN GUN RUNNING PLOT

Suspects Will Be Taken Before Federal Jury in Newark This Week.

Twelve persons believed to have a working knowledge of the alleged conspiracy that resulted in the hiding of 495 machine guns on the freighter East Side in Hoboken last week will be subpoenaed to appear before the Federal Grand Jury in Newark this week. The names of the probable witnesses have been kept secret by Isaac Gross, Assistant United States Attorney, who will present the facts to the jurors.

One operative investigating for the Department of Justice characterized the story thus far as "more fantastic than a movie scenario," and another said that the department has discovered evidence that the East Side was by no means the first ship in the port of New York to have munitions of war stored aboard her by gun runners and filibusters who were receiving large financial reward for shipping arms and munitions to revolutionists in Europe, South America and Central America.

While the investigators admit that they have discovered a remarkable state of affairs and evidence of plots that would make the writers of old time thrillers feel ashamed of their weak imaginations, they declare that they are having considerable trouble obtaining proof of criminality. They admit that it is one of those situations in which are innumerable indications of lawlessness and criminal conspiracy, but that proof thereof is scant.

The utmost secrecy has cloaked the entire investigation. At least twenty-five men and, according to well founded rumor, two or three women have been questioned by Department of Justice men. Thus far, though, the Government's detectives have not learned much more about Frank Williams, claimant of the guns, other than that he is a munitions agent and a man averse to talking about himself.

Service Held in Memory of War Dead.

A special field mass was celebrated yesterday in Washington Square Park in memory of the members of the Ninth Coast Defense Command, New York National Guard, and of soldiers from the vicinity of Washington square who lost their lives in the war. A number of gold star mothers were present also.

The mass was celebrated by the Rev. J. A. Breslin of St. Joseph's Church, Sixth avenue and Waverly place, chaplain of the Ninth, who served overseas as chaplain of the twenty-eighth infantry. Mr. John Edwards, vicar-general and permanent rector of St. Joseph's, was present at the altar. Father Breslin was assisted by the Rev. Laurence J. Costello, rector of the chapel of the 16th infantry, as deacon, and the Rev. Anthony Rothlauf, who also served overseas, as subdeacon.

The Rev. Gerald Tracy, formerly chaplain of the Thirty-ninth infantry, made a patriotic address.

INDUCT PAPAL NUNCIO IN GUARD OF HONOR

Picture Service in Church of St. Jean Baptiste.

An impressive service was held yesterday afternoon in the Church of St. Jean Baptiste, Lexington avenue and Seventy-sixth street, when Archbishop Charles F. McLaughlin, Apostolic Nuncio Extraordinary to Peru, and members of his suite were received into the Society of the Guard of Honor. Following the customary ceremony of reception the Archbishop, escorted by members of the clergy and Papal knights, carried the Blessed Sacrament in procession.

Attending Archbishop Pietropoli, who represents the Pope on a special mission to Peru, are Mr. Piero Borja of the Vatican, secretariat of state; Prince Nicola Orsini and Prof. Antonio de Gennaro, secretary to the Archbishop. They are guests of the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament at 154 East Seventy-sixth street.

Yesterday's service was one of the most picturesque ever held in the Church of St. Jean Baptiste, which recently was honored by being incorporated by Papal decree into the Basilica of St. John Lateran of Rome known throughout the Catholic world as the mother of all the churches.

MME. CURIE'S RADIUM GIFT TO GO WITH HER

It Will Be Shipped in Box Weighing 130 Pounds.

The gram of radium which will sail with Mme. Marie Curie on the White Star liner Lyonic next Saturday, her gift from the women of the United States, has energy enough to lift the ship out of the water if released all at once. Special preparations have been made for housing the gift in the special room of the liner, and care will be taken to see that the box containing it is not placed near precious stones, for radium rays injure their color. The box, which is made of mahogany, with a lining of lead and steel. The lead is an inch and a half thick, and the box weighs, with its linings, 130 pounds. Despite this heavy casing it is estimated that about 5 per cent. of the radium rays will get through, not enough, however, to cause injury to persons handling the box.

The receptacle, which was prepared under direction of the Bureau of Standards at Washington, bears on its cover a heavy gold plate with the presentation inscription.

FEAR OF KIDNAPPERS DAUNTS WITNESSES

Detectives Unable to Find Any One Willing to Testify in Varotta Case.

NEED IDENTIFICATION

Fiaschetti Convinced That One of Men Under Arrest Is Responsible.

CHILDREN QUESTIONED

Police Believe Boy Was Carried Away While He Was Playing With Companions.

Detectives of the Italian squad, believing that Giuseppe Varotta, the Italian boy whose kidnapping and murder is still the chief talk of the neighborhood where he lived, was carried away from his Thirteenth street doorstep while he was playing there on the afternoon of May 24, have been carrying on an intensive search for possible witnesses of the kidnapping. Detective Sergeant Fiaschetti, chief of the squad, is convinced that one of the men already arrested is directly responsible for Giuseppe's disappearance, and he is working now to find some one who can make a positive identification of the suspect.

Although the neighborhood gossips of 354 East Thirteenth street, where the Varotta family lives, talk and gesticulate about the case very freely among themselves, it is believed that fear of the men who carried out the crime has made it impossible for the police to get hold of the definite information which undoubtedly exists.

If Giuseppe was carried away at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, as his mother thinks likely, the street must have been crowded with other children. In their effort to ascertain the circumstances of the boy's disappearance, the detectives have questioned closely all his playmates, the older children who live in the street, as well as the shopkeepers and women who are at home throughout the day. All this questioning has led to very little so far.

Another angle which is giving the police trouble is the question of where the boy was taken immediately after the kidnapping. They are searching thoroughly the possibility that he may have been held in New York for several days before he was drowned.

Several days ago the detectives received a letter from Judge E. C. Carpenter of Highland Falls, in which he said that on June 2 a little boy had been observed in an automobile at Highland Falls, riding with two young Italians. The child was reported to be about the age of the Varotta boy. He was crag and seemed very unhappy. The police have been able to get only vague descriptions of these men and the automobile.

SENATOR 'BILLY' LYONS OF DENVER ARRESTED

Accused of Threatening to Beat Up a Policeman.

William C. ("Billy") Lyons, State Senator and widely known sporting man of Denver, was arrested yesterday at Cedarhurst, L. I., by Policeman Ernest Furman and held in $200 bail by Judge of the Supreme Court S. E. Kauffman on a charge of disorderly conduct. He will be examined Tuesday.

Policeman Furman said he was at Central avenue, near Washington avenue, when Lyons passed in an automobile. Two other men and three women were in the car and, according to the policeman, all were using loud and boisterous language. He called them to a halt and when they refused he jumped on his motorcycle and headed them off two blocks further on.

The policeman said that Lyons jumped out of the car and began abusing him, threatening to beat him up. Lyons was then arrested and the rest of the party allowed to leave without giving their names. A crowd collected during the row.

A man of the same name and who also was a Colorado State Senator was arrested in February, 1917, for taking part in a row in a Broadway restaurant. He brandished a revolver and threatened to shoot Herman Ling, a stock broker. Lyons had a permit to carry a revolver, but it was revoked when he was arraigned before Magistrate Murphy in West Side court.

BOY IS SHOT IN GROIN PLAYING WITH COUSIN

Ownership of Pistol Is Disclaimed by Uncle.

George Jameson, 15, of 314 East Thirtieth street, was taken last night to Harlem Hospital in a serious condition from a pistol shot wound in the groin, received while playing in the home of his uncle, Frank Teller, at 239 East 114th street. His cousin, Joseph Jameson, was the only other person in the flat at the time and he disappeared after the shooting, which is believed to have been accidental. The wounded boy staggered into the hall and collapsed. Tenants in the house called a policeman and Dr. Cassassa removed the boy to the hospital.

When Teller returned he disclaimed ownership of the pistol and said he did not know how it came to be in the house.
